CRIMINAL CASES

ADMINISTRATIVE CASES

4033

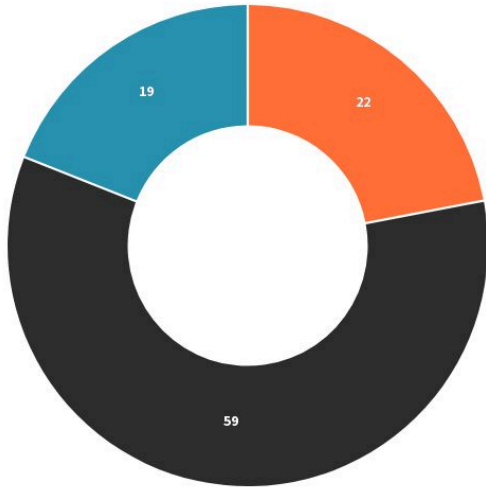

cases under Article 20.3.3 of the Administrative Code

Those detained at the rallies against mobilization on September 21 were charged with articles 20.2, 20.2.2 and 19.3 of the Administrative Code. Defenders of OVD-Info helped 283 people in 7 cities. The courts ordered 203 administrative arrests, 71 fines, 3 compulsory works, 2 postponements of detention and 4 cases were returned to the police. The data may change, as not all the trials have passed yet.

And according to the data from the Joint Press Service of the Judicial System of St. Petersburg, on the grounds of the rally that took place on September 21, the courts issued 391 administrative decisions over the next two days, of which 343 arrests took up to 88%. Almost all the detainees were found guilty.

Over the past six months, the courts of St. Petersburg have issued 5,132 decisions, of which 908 were arrests. 81% of the defendants were found guilty.

We know about 117 cases of extrajudicial pressure — attacks, threats and damaging of property for an anti-war position. The data is collected from open sources and appeals to the OVD-Info hotline. We assume that the figure may be larger.

«FOREIGN AGENTS» AND «UNDESIRABLE ORGANIZATIONS»

“foreign agents” The Ministry of Justice included in the register from August 24 to September 24

The status was received, among others, by the editor-in-chief of «Novaya Gazeta. Europe» Kirill Martynov, blogger Kirill Fedorov, journalist Sergey Loiko, municipal deputy Yulia Galyamina, broadcaster Maxim Shats and political scientist Sergey Medvedev. Also this month, musicians, journalists, bloggers and showmen were included in the foreign agents» register

A total of 99 people and organizations have been included in the register of «foreign agents» since February 24.

After the dissolution of the International Memorial for «systematic violations of the law on „foreign agents“, » on September 16, the Tverskoy District Court ordered the seizure of the Memorial’s accounts and property as part of the case on the recognition as invalid of the transfer of the office of the International Memorial to another organization, and the conversion of property to the income of the Russian Federation.

In September, new «undesirable organizations» were not added to the list. Since the beginning of the war, 15 organizations have been introduced to the list.

PRESSURE ON INDEPENDENT MEDIA

journalists were detained from September 21 to 23

Over the past month, the pressure on independent sources of information in Russia has not weakened: a case of «extremism» was opened against the co-founder of Dissernet, Andrey Zayakin, and twice during this time the courts fined publishers and editors of independent media for «fakes» in Samara and Moscow.

At least 7 journalists in several regions were searched in the case of former State Duma deputy Ilya Ponomarev: Vladislav Postnikov, the editor-in-chief of Vecherniye Vedomosti, Viktor Zyryanov, one of the founders of the Oryol publication Orlets, Julia Glazova, who is a journalist for Sibreal and 86.ru, RusNews journalist Bella Nasibyan, photographer Ruslan Sukhushin, as well as the alleged moderators of the telegram channel of the legion «Freedom of Russia».

Blogger Sergey Nosov, director and four employees of the Odintsovo-INFO portal, and coordinator of the Association of Observers Dmitry Pervukhin were also searched.

On September 23, journalists of the «People of Baikal» Olga Mutovina and Elena Batutene were detained in the Irkutsk region.

In addition, we know that in the Khanty-Mansiysk Autonomous Okrug, journalists were banned from attending a meeting of veterans who returned from Ukraine. Moreover, a journalist of the German publication Der Spiegel was not allowed to interview residents of border areas.
